FULL LEASED WIRE TELEGRAPH REPORT

WILL STOP ALL TRAFFIC ON THE WILLAMETTE

Points on the Upper Willamette above Oregon City, extending through the territory bounded on the south by Corvallis, will be isolated from water transportation from the latter part of July or about August 1 until October 1. Officials of the Oregon City Transportation company operating the fleet known as the Yellow Stack Line, announced yesterday that the service would be discontinued for that period, closing of the Oregon City locks to deepen the channel, compelling discontinuance of traffic.

Pressed by unusual demands because the movement of freight has been heavier than heretofore, the company has continued the steamer Pomona between Portland and Corvallis longer than usual this season, the water above Salem being too low as a rule after June 6, but tomorrow the Pomona will make her last trip until October. She left yesterday for the head of navigation, but it is assumed that she will have difficulty making the point, as the river stood at two feet and it was expected to be 17 feet today. The vessel will be laid up here for a few days to be repaired and undergo a few repairs. About Tuesday she will go on the Portland-Oregon City run, making two round trips daily, leaving here at 8 and 2 o'clock and leaving Oregon City at 11 and 5 o'clock. Sundays she will make three round trips.

The steamer Oregon will remain on the Portland-Salem route until the locks are closed, unless the river falls more rapidly than expected, the service then being three round trips a week. As the company has no adequate means of transferring freight around the locks the Salem service will cease when the basin is blocked. Without taking into consideration the loss to the company, growers along the river will suffer, as the blockade will be felt at a time when hop-picking is at its height and the movement of pickers is heavy annually. They will have to go south by rail and either walk or be driven to the river sections remote from transportation.

ROBBERS

ROBBED THE

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
San Francisco, June 21.—Detectives today are searching for two robbers who last night raided the rooms of the "Editorial Club," an incorporated "gambling club in Turk street, and held up the five inmates of the place, after having beaten the keeper, Frank C. Briggs, unconscious. Among the men robbed was Charles Torrence, of Seattle, who lost $120 and a diamond ring valued at $500. The detectives have been unable to find a trace of the two men who robbed the place.

It was several minutes after the robbers had gone, locking the doors from the outside, before the men in the club room dared to telephone the police and hospital for help.

ARE TRYING TO QUASH THE INDICTMENTS

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Los Angeles, Cal., June 21.—Contending that the true bills returned by the grand jury against B. H. Conners, A. B. Maple and F. Ira Bender, held on charges of attempting to dynamite the hall of records building, were illegally obtained, Attorneys Job Harriman, LeCompte Davis and Joseph Scott, representing the defense, appeared before Judge Willis this morning in an effort to have the indictments quashed. The state was represented by Deputy District Attorney Horton. The case was continued until Friday morning when additional arguments will be heard.

The defense asked that the indictments be quashed on the ground that the grand jury completely overlooked that section of the penal code which provides that the foreman of the jury must read to every witness Section 1324, which explains the witness' rights if he is liable to be incriminated by the testimony he is about to give. This law was passed by the last legislature, signed by Governor Johnson March 23, and became effective May 23.

Deputy District Attorney Horton admitted that this section of the code had not been read to the prisoners, but contended that inasmuch as the grand jury started its investigation into the alleged dynamiting before this law became effective, it did not apply to this case. Judge Willis will rule on the question after hearing further arguments, Friday, when the accused men will also enter their pleas to the charges.

A REASONABLE COMBINATION
BENEFICIALYOUNG HAVEMEYER SAYS HIS FATHER LIMITED PRODUCTION
IN INTEREST OF CONSUMER—STORY IS DIAPHANOUSLY AT-TENUATED.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Washington, June 21.—When the Hardwick sugar investigating committee resumed its sessions today, Horace Havemeyer, a son of the late sugar king, Henry O. Havemeyer, was recalled. He testified that "a reasonable" combination was a positive benefit to the public. Havemeyer declared that the merger of the National Sugar Refining company and the New York and Yonkers refineries into the National Sugar refining company of New Jersey was more of a benefit to the public than to the company. No single man, he declared, could control prices.

He asserted that with the over-production of refined sugar, if the duty were removed, would result in the ruining of the beet sugar industry. As far as he knew, he asserted, the combination effected by his father had not resulted in increased prices, although, he admitted, that the purpose was to reduce production, as well as the cost of production. As far as he knew, he said, there were no agreements limiting production or the territory where each company might trade.

Havemeyer said he thought the interstate commerce commission exercised a "fatherly care" over the railroads. He said he believed government committees regulating corporations would be a good plan.

He said he thought the tendency of those controlling any commodity was to do right rather than to effect unreasonable prices. He was temperately excused from the stand.

It may sound silly, but one always hates to hear that somebody has said of him that he is a nice man.

There may be men who have died for love, but it took them upward of 80 years to do it.

MARICOPA
WIPED OUT BY BIG FIRE

Bakersfield, June 20.—All wires to Maricopa, Arizona, down. News received here by automobile couriers today is that fire started in Carter's hotel and fanned by a stiff breeze, spread in two directions. Soon the telephone office, telegraph office and many stores on the south side of the street were consumed. Among the burned buildings were two banks. Their steel vaults are believed to be intact. Fighting desperately, the volunteer fire brigade of 200 finally controlled the town had been destroyed. The Lakeview hotel which cost $65,000, was burned to the ground. Chief Ball was instantly killed while carrying a line of hose over a roof. He was struck by an electric wire. Fifteen persons, it is said, were injured.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.
"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." BOOKINGS
FOR SALEM'S THEATRE

MANAGER FARMER HAS A SPLENDID PROGRAM FOR NEXT SEASON'S AMUSEMENT LOVERS—PLAYS ARE VARIED, AND SOMETHING FOR ALL.

Ray L. Farmer, manager of the Grand Opera House, this morning announced the bookings for his house for the season of 1911-1912. In view of the fact that Salem theatergoers do not give the same patronage to the melodrama and the plays carrying moral lessons, as they do to the comedy dramas and the musical comedies, the latter class of plays will predominate at the local house this season. Experience has proven beyond a doubt that Salem pleasure seekers prefer the catchy music, pretty girls, knee dresses and all the trimmings or lack of them, that go with the musical comedies, and that the melodrama and the plays carrying moral sermons do not appeal to Salem theater patrons.

Manager Farmer has booked a list of the finest shows for the coming year that have ever played on the local boards. In fact, no metropolitan city will have a better class of plays nor a varied program of music, song and pretty girls than will Salem's popular house this season. The play lovers of this city have demonstrated their love for the pink cheeks, blue eyes (or brown or black if you prefer) and the hosiery show, and Manager Farmer will give his patrons plenty of their heart's desire this season. A glance at the bookings for the coming season shows the discriminating and wise choice made for this year. The best shows on the road will stop over in Salem for one night each and no musical comedy worthy of the name will overlook this city.

Next week Ferris Hartman in "The Toy-makers," will close the summer season at the local show house. September 13, "Miss Nobody from Starland" will open the Fall season, and from that date on the numerous attractions will follow in rapid succession.

Richard Carle, the man with the English twang to his name, will follow "Miss Nobody" and then comes "Baby Mine," "The Girl in the Taxi," "The House Next Door," and "The Traveling Salesman" will fill in the early autumn dates, and then comes "Bright Eyes," "In Old Kentucky," the old favorite, will make it yearly to Salem and then Billy Clifford the laughmaker, with his host of pretty girls, "The Third Degree" will season the program with a touch of the serious and then comes the joy of the suburbanites—"The Commuters." Lawrence Dorsay and Kirke Bellew with a little of the legitimate and then the Lombardi Opera company for the music lovers. Good old "Checkers" with the story of the "trot" and the race track and then Rex Beach's Alaskan story, "The Bar," "The smell of the sawdust ring in 'Polka of the Circus' is on the boards next, and then another tune hunter, "Seven Days," "The Twins," "The Gamblers," "The Virginian," Forbes Robertson, and the girl with the non-flexible braid—Rose Melville. The list of play titles is softened a little with "The Rosary," reminding one of church bells and beads. It is said "De Purple," coming next in line, deals with the night life among the smart set of New York. "Miss Fixit" will play here and also children's delight—"Mutt and Jeff." Then another musical comedy in "The Chocolate Soldier," Joseph W. Gates and Leslie Carter with a touch of drama, "Alma," "Excuse Me," and "The Campus" also are on the board for this season. Other shows will follow, but they are not yet booked. No doubt theatergoers of Salem will have plenty of good shows this season and the Grand Opera House is certain of one of the best years in its history.

PRESIDENT GOES AFTER THE PATENTS

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Washington, June 21.—Denouncing false statements of the curative properties of patent medicines, President Taft today sent a message to congress, urging an emergency amendment prohibiting such declarations on the labels of proprietary medicines. The message says that more than 2,000 cases against medicine firms making false claims as to the qualities and the curative powers of their compounds have been prepared for prosecution under the pure food and drug law.

More than 150 of these cases, he said, must be dismissed under a ruling of the supreme court of the United States holding that under the statute such false claims could not be construed as misbranding.

The cases investigated, he said, involved some of the rankest frauds the department of justice ever had discovered.

"An evil, menacing the general health of the people, strikes at the nation's life," the message says. "The sale of dangerous drugs constitutes such an evil."

OPEN FORUM.

Worth $100,000 a Year.

Ed. Journal: "I am certainly glad of your announcement of our Open Forum. I have been quite a close observer of commercial conditions in Oregon for the past 10 years, and particularly so for the past five years and have many times said that the people of Oregon could well afford to pay $100,000 a year for the services of an open, fearless newspaper, who would tell the truth and shame the devil, if necessary.

This "Open Forum" can go a great ways in accomplishing much good for our people in many ways if the people will only take the proper degree of interest in discussions, and give vent to their views upon matters of public concern. Such a course will not only be of inestimable value to the people at large, but should at the same time result in great profit to the publication producing the same. I shall watch with great interest the interest manifested, and the results of the same."

Decisions Were Aid to Business.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

New Haven, Conn., June 21.—Endorsing the decisions of the supreme court in the oil and tobacco trust cases, President William Howard Taft today made an address at the Yale alumni dinner.

"I believe the decisions have benefited business and laid down a distinction which it is not difficult for any honest business man to follow," he said.

The statute, the president said, applies to conspiracies and restraint of trade where the intent is to monopolize and exclude competition and control prices but where there is no such conscious result the statute does not object to organization."

HOPES TO KNOCK OUT REFERENDUM PETITION

Judge Slater, who is examining into the validity of the referendum petitions filed against the appropriations made by the last legislature for the University of Oregon appeared before the board of regents yesterday at Eugene, and advised it of the progress he is making with relation to them.

While his statement to the board is being kept secret it is understood that he had found many fraudulent signatures, and stated that he hoped to have the petitions declared invalid. The members are understood to be pleased with the report and the examination will be continued more vigorously than ever.

TEN SCHOOL DISTRICTS AT ELMIRA UNITE

Eugene, June 21.—At their annual meeting held Monday 20 school districts adjoining Elmira voted to combine into a rural high school district, under the new state law. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the plan, and contracts will be let at once for a building, that school work may be begun in the fall.

The Irving school district voted to erect during the summer a two-story building, half of which will be used for grade work, and the other half for a high school. Several other districts will probably unite later with Irving.
